1. - 10. sorularda, verilen duruma uygun düşen cümleyi bulunuz.

1. Your friend has just moved into a new flat in a big building. His next-door neighbours are young college students. Their loud music and noise disturb him every night. So, he will complain to the building manager about them. But you think he should solve the problem in a friendlier way. So, you say: ----
 - A) You can put up with their noise until it becomes unbearable.
 - B) Report them to the police. That will definitely solve the problem.
 - C) They may not be aware that they're disturbing you. It's better to talk to them first.
 - D) You should disturb them, too. Make noise in your flat when they are quiet.
 - E) They deserve a good punishment. You should find a tougher way to stop them.
2. You are at work. Your co-worker is sitting with his eyes closed. Actually, he has sat like that or stared out the window all morning. He barely did any work. Normally, he is a very energetic man and works very hard. So you are worried about him, and you say: ----
 - A) You look as energetic as you are every day, so I think the boss misunderstood you.
 - B) I'm afraid you will fall asleep in your chair in a while.
 - C) Open your eyes and do some work as you should, will you?
 - D) I don't think you should be sleeping in the office.
 - E) What's the matter with you this morning? You seem odd.
3. Your six-year-old brother doesn't want to do his homework. In order to encourage him to do it, you promise to give him a reward when he finishes it. Now, he has finished it and is showing it to you. You keep your promise and say: ----
 - A) I could give you some candy for your good work, but it is bad for your health.
 - B) Good! I will reward you with a big candy bar when you do your homework again.
 - C) Well done! But you shouldn't expect a reward for just doing your homework.
 - D) Good for you! You deserve a bar of chocolate now.
 - E) I am proud of you now. But you must work harder for a reward.
4. Your cousin lives in Frankfurt. You are going to fly there and visit her. You are supposed to leave on June the third, but you receive an e-mail from the airline. It says that they have delayed your flight for two days due to bad weather conditions. So, you call your cousin and say: ----
 - A) There are no flights to Frankfurt until June the fourth.
 - B) I hope the weather gets better before June the third, and I can visit you.
 - C) They have cancelled my flight. So I can't visit you for some time.
 - D) Unfortunately, I can't come to see you before June the fifth.
 - E) Is it possible for you to drive to the airport in bad weather and pick me up?

5. Your friend had a cat for ten years, and she loved it like a baby. Now, her cat is dead, and she is feeling very sorry. You visit her because you want to support and comfort her. When she is in tears, you say: ----

- A) I'm so sorry for your loss. I understand how bad it feels.
- B) Would you like to see a picture of my cat? She is so cute like yours.
- C) When you have a new pet, you should take better care of it.
- D) Your cat lived longer than most street cats, anyway.
- E) There is no reason for you to feel so sad. You could easily adopt a new one.

6. It's your birthday tomorrow. Your friend is curious about your father's birthday present for you. But you are not expecting a gift from him because he is a businessman and always has other things on his mind. So, you hopelessly say: ----

- A) I hope he will buy a nice piece of jewellery like he did before.
- B) I always expect a flower bouquet for my birthday, and my father knows that.
- C) I usually celebrate my birthday with my family in a nice restaurant.
- D) I don't think he will even remember it since he is very busy.
- E) He has already bought me a gift. Let me show it to you.

7. Your teenage nephew feels very uncomfortable because of the acne on his face. You finally take him to a skin doctor, and the doctor prescribes an ointment for him. He has just begun using the ointment. But he is afraid that he will never get rid of the acne. Now, you tell him not to worry and say: ----

- A) There is no medicine to prevent acne.
- B) When you have more, just squeeze them.
- C) You might get new ones in the coming years.
- D) It will be alright. They will disappear soon.
- E) It's hard to get rid of them with an ointment.

8. Your brother comes to the dinner table as soon as he finishes his game outside. He hasn't washed his hands. When you warn him about this, he says he didn't touch anything dirty. You insist that he should wash them and say: ----

- A) I trust you. I know that you attach great importance to your personal hygiene.
- B) But you still are supposed to wash your hands before you eat.
- C) Good for you! Then, I suppose your hands are clean.
- D) OK, but make sure you wash your hands and mouth after dinner.
- E) You must wash your hands when they are visibly dirty.

9. You and your friend Nancy want to watch a famous play at the town theatre this evening. You go there in the morning to get tickets for tonight's performance. You wait in a long queue for an hour, but then, they tell you that all the tickets have been sold. So, you call your friend and say: ----

- A) I was going to buy our tickets for the play, but I didn't want to.
- B) We won't be able to see the play tonight. I couldn't get any tickets.
- C) It was hard to get the tickets. I had to wait in a long queue.
- D) I could hardly find two tickets after I waited for an hour.
- E) I couldn't get our tickets in the morning. We'll buy them when we go there tonight.

10. You are riding on a city bus. Someone taps you on your shoulder, and you turn around. An unfamiliar woman says 'Hi, Martha.' You don't know her, and your name is not Martha. So, you politely say to her: ----

- A) Who are you, and why are you talking to me?
- B) I am not Martha, and I don't know you. Stop calling me Martha.
- C) Sorry, I don't like talking to people that I don't know.
- D) Why do you think my name is Martha?
- E) I'm afraid you are mistaking me for someone else.

1. - 10. sorularda, verilen duruma uygun düşen cümleyi bulunuz.

1. You asked your sister to tidy up her room in the morning, and she promised to do it before lunch time. When you enter her room later in the day, you get angry. It is still untidy, the same as before. You don't want to sound angry, so you just say: ----
 - A) You needn't clean your room now. We haven't had lunch yet.
 - B) Why do you keep neglecting your duties even though I tell you to do them countless times?
 - C) You were going to tidy up your room. Is there a change of plan?
 - D) No lunch for you today! That's your punishment for not cleaning up your room.
 - E) I knew that you were going to keep your promise.
2. You live in a big city with your family. Last week, you visited your hometown for the first time in ten years. You were surprised because it was just the same as it had been before. Now, you are back in your city. You are talking to your mother about the town. You say: ----
 - A) It was like nothing had changed since the day we left.
 - B) Oh, mum, I thought I was in a completely different place.
 - C) I was surprised because there have been many improvements.
 - D) I was shocked. It looked like an unfamiliar town.
 - E) I felt like a stranger because everything looked so different.
3. You are at a job interview. You have prepared for it carefully. And you want to show them both your interest in the job and your qualifications. Now, they ask you the reason why you left your last job. You want to sound like a dependable and good worker. So, as an answer, you say: ----
 - A) I always had to work too hard, and I could never skip a work day.
 - B) I wanted to advance in my career and gain more experience.
 - C) I often had arguments with my previous boss, and she fired me.
 - D) I couldn't get along with the other workers, and I quit the job.
 - E) I wanted to get a job with a better salary and less work.
4. You have saved up just enough money to buy a small, two-bedroom flat. Now, you are looking for one on the Internet with your mother. You come across a two-storey house with a swimming pool and a garage. Your mother is very interested in it. She suggests buying it. You say: ----
 - A) You can't even swim! You don't need a swimming pool.
 - B) It's my dream house, too. We can buy it after we buy the flat.
 - C) What do we need a garage for when we don't even have a car?
 - D) Are you joking? You know very well that we can't afford it.
 - E) I prefer that house to a small flat, too. Let's buy it.

5. You own a hardware shop. You sell hand tools for homes like hammers, keys, locks, nails and screws. You also sell gardening tools like shovels, rakes, wheelbarrows, gloves and boots. An old man comes into your shop. He wants to buy a saucepan and a pot for his wife. You politely say: ----

A) This is not a kitchenware store. Don't you see our products?
B) I could help you order them online if you like.
C) Would you like to have any flower pots instead?
D) Go to a kitchenware shop. You have to understand I don't sell those here.
E) I'm afraid you are in the wrong shop, sir.

6. You and your co-worker are going to your boss' dinner party. You have an hour before it begins, and the boss' house is on the other side of the city. Your co-worker wants to go there by taxi, but you think it is faster to travel on the metro. So you say: ----

A) The traffic will be very heavy now, and the metro will be too crowded.
B) We can ride either in a taxi or on the metro.
C) I am afraid we can't find a taxi at this hour.
D) I'd rather take the metro than a taxi.
E) Let's not take a taxi; I don't want to be there too early.

7. You and your roommate have made a plan to go out to dinner and then to the movies this evening. So, you're ready to leave as soon as he arrives from work. But when he comes home, he is very tired. He wants to have an early dinner at home and go to bed. In great disappointment, you say: ----

A) Are you sure? We were supposed to go out tonight.
B) You surprise me with a new plan every evening.
C) I hope you haven't changed your mind again.
D) Don't you think it is too early to go to sleep now? I need some time to cook dinner.
E) We don't have to order a pizza. I have cooked some rice and chicken.

8. Your niece is a very hardworking and successful student. Her grades are always very high. But now, when you see the poor mark on her last test paper, you can't believe your eyes. You are shocked, so you say: ----

A) I am still proud of your success at school.
B) I wasn't really expecting a better mark.
C) How could you get such a bad mark?
D) You can get a better mark on the next test.
E) Why didn't you study hard for this test?

9. Your brother has bought a red hat for your little sister on her birthday. She doesn't like the colour and wants to change it. But you don't know where he bought it. She decides to ask your brother the name of the shop. You think this is a bad idea and explain why by saying: ----

A) Perhaps they have the same hat in other colours, too.
B) I think you should keep it and wear it with your red coat.
C) It will be very rude. Your brother thinks you really liked his present.
D) Don't do that. Its colour suits your white fur jacket.
E) You don't need to change it. I'll buy you another hat.

10. When her children do something bad, your sister always punishes them. She sends them away to their rooms or takes away their favourite toys. You think this is wrong. And you explain the reason by saying: ----

A) You must find another way of punishing them.
B) It will cause fear in them. It will also ruin your relationship with them.
C) You should never punish them for their wrong behaviour.
D) It is very hard to stay calm when they don't behave well.
E) When you punish them for their wrong behaviour, they will develop better habits.

- Chris:
– I did. I came at around ten o'clock, just when the cake-cutting began.
- Ayşe:
– ----
- Chris:
– Too bad you missed the most exciting part of the wedding.
- A) It was a very crowded party. Perhaps that's why I didn't see you.
B) I was there at that time. I left as soon as I had some cake.
C) Oh, I had to leave before that. My father picked me up too early.
D) I'm sorry that I didn't notice you there.
E) Really? I was there until the end of the party.

6. Wife:
– Oh, you're home early. I wasn't expecting you so soon.
- Husband:
– ----
- Wife:
– That's a surprise! Your meetings usually last until the evening.
- Husband:
– There wasn't much to discuss, so it ended in just two hours.
- A) I'm happy to be back home. It was the longest meeting we had ever had.
B) Well, the meeting didn't take very long this time.
C) I couldn't stay long. I was not feeling very well.
D) Oh, I was too tired to stay until the end of the meeting.
E) I am back early because I left the meeting very early.

7. Mother:
– Where is Joe?
- Daughter:
– In his room. He is sleeping.
- Mother:
– ----
- Daughter:
– Don't worry. I'll go and wake him up.
- A) He'll miss dinner. We're going to eat in a few minutes.
B) Oh, the poor boy! He must be very tired.
C) He must have had a very long day at school today.
D) He studied all night long. He needs to sleep, of course.
E) He must be full. He ate a lot of pizza while he was studying.

8. Ethan:

1. You and your little brother are having lunch at your neighbour's house. The soup tastes awful, and you both can hardly eat it. But you tell your neighbour that it is very delicious because you don't want to make her feel bad. When she goes into the kitchen, your brother asks you why you lied. He also reminds you that lying is bad. You explain by saying: ----

A) You are right. That's why I didn't lie.
B) I know. I promise I'll never lie again.
C) Yes, but the truth can be hurtful sometimes.
D) It wasn't a lie. Actually, grown-ups never lie.
E) Well, she is too old to cook now, but she used to cook very well.

2. You ask your roommate to go to the grocery shop down the street and buy some yoghurt for dinner. As he is watching TV at the moment, he says he will go when the show is over. But the shop closes at seven, and now, it is a quarter to seven. So, you say: ----

A) I hope it will finish in an hour; or else, we can't have yoghurt with our meal.
B) It will be too late then. I'll get it in the morning.
C) When you go, buy some sweets, too. We don't have anything for dessert.
D) Oh, but the shop will have closed by then.
E) The store has already closed, but your show hasn't ended yet.

3. Your sister will go to her best friend's wedding tomorrow. She has bought a white evening dress for it. But you think that it is not right to wear a white dress to a wedding. And you explain the reason for it by saying: ----

A) White doesn't look nice on you. Wear another colour.
B) People may mistake you for the bride. I wouldn't wear it if I were you.
C) You look so beautiful in white. All the other women there will be jealous of you.
D) My dress is white, too. We'll look just like twins.
E) Why did you buy this? You have more elegant dresses.

4. Your niece is in third grade. She always wants your help with her homework. She does so because she wants to finish it quickly and play games on her tablet. You want to help her, but you think she should learn to do her homework herself. So you say: ----

A) You should be doing your homework instead of playing games.
B) I'd rather do your homework myself than help you with it.
C) You should ask for my help only when you don't understand something.
D) I'm tired of helping you with your homework. I have other things to do.
E) Wait for your father to come home and do your homework with him.

5. You want to get rid of the old armchair in your room and put it in the basement, but it is too heavy for one person to carry. So, you have to carry it together with your brother. You kindly say to him: ----

A) Can you help me move this armchair downstairs?
B) Is this armchair too heavy for you to move? Do you need my help?
C) I need you to carry this armchair to the basement.
D) Do you mind taking this armchair to your own room?
E) Are you sure you want to throw this armchair away?

6. Your friend wants to have a dog. You always feel sorry for the homeless dogs in shelters. So, you advise him to adopt a dog from a dog shelter and not to buy one from a pet shop. And you explain the reason for your advice by saying: ----

A) Pet shops shouldn't keep the dogs in cages and under poor conditions.
B) You should remember that the dogs in shelters may be very aggressive.
C) You should get a dog from a dog shelter because they are in need of a loving home.
D) You will have to pay a lot of money when you get a dog from a shelter.
E) You had better have a look in some pet shops first.

7. Rick:
– I can't decide which of these two shirts to buy.
- Fred:
– ----
- Rick:
– Yes, but I have to choose one of them. I don't have enough money on me for more than one.
- Fred:
– Then, buy the green one. It matches your eyes.
- A) Just pick one. They all look the same.
B) They both don't suit you. You need lighter colours.
C) They both look good on you.
D) Why don't you buy both of them?
E) Can't you buy both of them?

8. Mark:
– I bought a toy drum set for little Joey's first birthday.
- Evelyn:

1. Your friend wants to get rid of her extra kilos. So, she has been on a strict diet for a long time. But she hasn't lost any weight. You think that's because she sits in front of the computer and the TV all day. You know that diet alone does not help with weight loss. So you say: ----
 - A) You need physical exercise too. You can't lose weight just by eating less.
 - B) You may have lost some weight. Perhaps you are not aware of it.
 - C) You don't have to be on a diet. Just take some physical exercise every day.
 - D) Stop eating so much. Then you might begin losing weight.
 - E) You should find another diet and follow it strictly.
2. It is Sunday afternoon. Your brother says his business partner is coming for a visit with his wife in half an hour. You panic because the house is very untidy, and there is nothing to serve them. You are mad at your brother for not telling you about this before. You say: ----
 - A) You ought to have told them that we weren't going to be home.
 - B) I don't want to spend the whole Sunday afternoon with them.
 - C) Why didn't you say so before? I would have cleaned the house and cooked for them.
 - D) I hope they don't stay very long. I have other plans for today.
 - E) Will they bring their boys along? I can't stand their noise.
3. Your friend Nick has had a toothache for several days. When the pain got worse, he had to go to a dentist. The dentist pulled his tooth out. Now he is sorry about losing his tooth. Because it was his own fault, you say to him: ----
 - A) I don't go to the dentist until the last minute, either.
 - B) I understand your fear of dentists. I am afraid of going to the dentist, too.
 - C) A toothache is the worst thing that can happen to a person.
 - D) You could have gone to the dentist before it got so bad.
 - E) You needn't have gone to the dentist. It was already too late for it.
4. You are getting ready to go home at the end of a work day. It's a warm spring afternoon. You decide to walk home because you've been sitting in the office all day without doing any physical activities. Your co-worker has just bought a car. He offers to give you a lift. You politely refuse his offer. You say: ----
 - A) Thanks, but I am going to take the bus. You can come with me if you want to.
 - B) Why should I ride in a car on a beautiful day like this?
 - C) It's so kind of you, but I'd rather walk. I need some exercise.
 - D) Thank you, but I am afraid to ride in your car. You have just bought it.
 - E) It would be nice. I was just thinking about taking a cab.

5. Your friend calls you on a Sunday afternoon. While you are talking, he says he is very bored, just sitting at home. And he suggests going to the cinema to see the film Joker. But you've seen it, and you suggest something else. You say: ----

A) I suggest that you see it, too. You should not miss it.
B) I really didn't like the movie very much.
C) I'm looking forward to seeing it one more time.
D) I don't mind watching it again with you. Let's go to the cinema.
E) How about going somewhere for a coffee instead?

6. Your brother loves buying toys for his little son. He often comes home with a new colourful toy for him. You think this is not good for a child and that he will demand more and more toys. So, you say to your brother: ----

A) You should stop him from asking for more toys.
B) We can't afford to buy him a toy every day.
C) It's nice of you to make a little child happy.
D) You are spoiling the child by giving him so many toys.
E) Soon, there won't be any space left in his room to keep all the toys.

7. You get caught in the rain while you are shopping with your friend on a famous street in New York. You enter a café because you don't want to get wet. Now, you've been there for an hour, and your friend suggests walking back to your hotel. But you don't want to do that because it is raining even more heavily. So, you say: ----

A) It's better to forget about the shopping and go back immediately.
B) We'd better not leave before the rain stops.
C) I want to have another cup of coffee before we head out.
D) Come on, you shouldn't be that afraid of getting wet.
E) Let's walk to the nearest shopping mall instead and go on with our shopping.

8. You don't have a car, and you take a taxi to work every day. Your friend wonders why you are not buying a car. He thinks that you are spending too much money on taxis. You tell him that taking a taxi is much more convenient than driving. And you add: ----

A) I prefer owning a sports car to owning a standard car for driving to work.
B) Driving is more exciting than sitting in the back seat of a taxi.
C) It costs a great amount of money, but it's not more expensive than owning a car.
D) Using public transport is certainly cheaper than taking a taxi.
E) I would like to drive my own car instead of riding in a taxi.

9. Your nephew's school bus stops in front of your building, and he runs out the door. Because the elevator is busy, he runs down the stairs. But by the time he comes out of the building, the bus has left. So he comes back home and asks you to drive him to school. The driver's behaviour upsets you, and you say to your nephew: ----

A) He was supposed to wait until you got on.
B) It's your fault. You should have left home earlier.
C) He must have waited for you like he always did.
D) Why didn't you shout to him before he left?
E) He must have waited for you until the last minute.

10. When you first met your sister's friend, you didn't like her. She invited her to your house several times after that. She wanted you to know her better. She thought that you would eventually like her. But you still dislike her. And when she asks what you think about her now, you say: ----

A) When I first saw her, I didn't realize that she was such a nice person.
B) I would have liked her from the beginning.
C) She is fine, I think. But I might not like her in the future. Who knows?
D) I don't have any complaints about her, but my opinion of her has not changed.
E) I was wrong about her the first time I met her.
